Dear Community Members:

The good news is that houses in our communities are selling. I am sure you noticed that the For Sale signs lingered longer than ever, but most of them moved to Sold status over a period of time. My most successful sales of 2008 were well presented properties priced realistically at the top of their respective range. For example, one of my Kensington listings was offered at $579,000 and sold within 20 days at $564,000. Prior to marketing the house it was painted, the floors were refinished and the kitchen was updated. However, the seller went one step further to install granite countertops in the kitchen which made the kitchen "come alive". This added feature gave the house a competitive advantage over the competition and made for a satisfactory outcome for both seller and buyer. This level of property preparation can make a significant difference in both the final sales price as well as the time required to obtain a satisfactory offer.

Today's real estate market is presenting purchasers with some interesting options. Interest rates have dropped to levels that I simply would never have considered possible. Recently, thirty year fixed rate mortgages have been available at 4.75 % with no loan points. Housing prices have dropped modestly in some (strong) neighborhoods and in others the price adjustment has been significant. In addition, new loan programs are being offered that make mortgage money readily available to qualified purchasers. This adds up to a buying opportunity for purchasers who have been waiting for the right time to enter the market. It is my expectation that we are going to experience a respectable real estate market in 2009.

There is one interesting new loan program being offered by the F.H.A. (Federal Housing Administration). Amongst other features, it gives parents the ability to assist their children (or elderly parents) in the purchase of real estate by co-signing loans. For example, a recent college graduate might want to take advantage of a condo project that has been discounted for immediate sale. The F.H.A. loan cosigned by mom and dad can provide the financing and when the time comes to sell the condo this loan is assumable at today's low interest rate. If you have any further questions, please call or email me.

Denise Shanahan, my assistant of fifteen years is expecting her first child this April. After maternity leave I expect my office will have some new furniture. Now that our boys are leaving the "nest", Diana is working with sellers to stage their house for the market. Sam Hoxie continues to offer outstanding service for sellers as a project coordinator. Jonathan (J.T.) Burton has had a successful year and continues to grow into his profession (see inside) of being a Buyers Agent. While last year had its moments we actually got through it rather well. We remain together as a strong group of professionals dedicated to our thirty year tradition of outstanding real estate work. I deeply appreciate and honor the confidence that has been extended to me in so many ways by members of our community. Please feel free to contact me regarding the sale or purchase of real property or simply for brainstorming purposes.

Happy New Year 2009,

Gary H. Ditto

JT's Corner:

It has been a great honor to work in the neighborhood where I grew up. I continue to serve the community as coach of the B-CC Varsity Ice Hockey team and as a Realtor. I look forward to meeting new and old neighbors as I proceed along my professional path.

My services include:

- ◆ pre-purchase counseling
- ◆ real estate market information
- ◆ financing options
- ◆ searching for your best housing option
- ◆ working with you throughout the complete home purchasing process

To contact me, please email jt@garyditto.com or call me at 301-928-3456.
